

YOUTH FUTURES VIETNAM E-NEWSLETTER

UPDATES, CHALLENGES AND ACHIEVEMENTS

FRIDAY 27TH MAY 2022

DATE FOR LAUNCH EVENT SET

In the last newsletter we shared our plans for the project launch event in Hanoi. Thanks to all those who gave us feedback on this. because of your input, we've managed to hone down on exactly what this needs to look like, and have since set a date. The event will take place over the 7th and 8th June, during which participants will meet each other, learn about climate change, how to conduct research and put into practice some of the methods and technologies they will be using throughout the project.

Though the event will be in person and conducted in Vietnamese language, there will be the opportunity for our YAB members to attend online, introduce themselves and their projects, and meet the group. Please let us know if you'd like to attend.

NEXT YAB MEETING

As the project ramps up, we want to re-start regular engagement with the YAB team again, and begin collaboration between yourselves and the Youth Futures Vietnam Participants. You'll have received a doodlepoll via email, so if you'd like to come, please do complete this and let us know your availability. We will be discussing the launch event, and ways you can be involved over the coming months.

MENTOR SCHEME

Some YAB members have suggested a mentor scheme for the Youth Futures Project. This would allow YAB members to volunteer their self-identified specific skills to the Youth Futures participants, offering advice and guidance to individuals and groups as they work in their communities.

Are you skilled in social media? Have experience communicating social issues through art? See yourself as particularly good at community engagement? Whatever your skills, we think the YAB are a real asset to the Youth Futures participants and want to maximise this!

Email f.e.halstead@hull.ac.uk and we will add you to a shared spreadsheet for participants to access for specific advice (we will provide translation services where necessary).

SPOTLIGHT OF THE WEEK: YAB MEMBER CHARLOTTE LAUNCHES NEW WELLBEING INITIATIVE

One of our amazing YAB members, Charlotte Allison, has launched a new initiative named Being Well Education Ltd. Being Well Education is digital platform created to promote children's wellbeing. You can follow the journey and gain access to some great resources by following the pages to the right!
