

YOUTH FUTURES VIETNAM E-NEWSLETTER

UPDATES, CHALLENGES AND ACHIEVEMENTS

FRIDAY 22ND APRIL 2022

TEAM MEETS WITH MUSEUM OF ETHNOLOGY

Our project lead, Lisa Jones, met with the Museum of Ethnology this week! The Hanoi based museum will support us in hosting a final policy event to showcase the work of the youth and will help us create a water puppetry performance that encapsulates the youths stories in a locally sensitive and create way. Water puppetry has been an old age and indigenous way of communicating stories in Vietnam since the 11th century, and so we are extremely happy to have them partnering with us!

ONLINE TRAINING

To prepare the participants for their role as a community researcher and climate champion, we are offering some online training that covers topics such as climate change, the purpose and process of research, photography, mapping, and examples of other projects that youth are involved in. If you have a project you would like to share with the youth, please let Florence know ASAP and we can make sure they see the amazing stuff you are all up to.

Any training they need to have that we haven't included? Anything you want to offer to develop their skills? Get intouch if so, we would love to hear from you

MEDIA UPDATES

We are currently developing a website as a central landing page for the Youth Futures Vietnam project. This will showcase the project and its outputs, and will include a YAB owned section, as well as a private area for project participants. If you have any ideas for the website, get in touch!

We also have a private Facebook group for Youth Future participants to meet, share ideas, and collaborate.

Our Twitter account @vietnam_youth is now live - give us a follow to keep up-to-date with the project as and when things happen!

SPOTLIGHT OF THE WEEK: FLOOD STORIES

We want to actively highlight the amazing work that is taking place both within our networks and beyond. The Spotlight of the Week segment will do exactly this! Have something you'd like to share, or is there someone/something you'd like to nominate? You know what to do - just drop us a line at f.e.halstead@hull.ac.uk.

This week we are starting with our very own Katie Parson's recent project, Flood Stories. This project builds on previous research into the experiences of children and young people during and after floods, and explores questions raised about usage of creative and participatory methodologies to explore their experiences and tell their story. By combining real children's experiences with immersive storytelling techniques we are able to build young people's sense of agency and preparedness. Explore these interactive Flood Stories here, and/or find out some more with this link.

GOT SOMETHING TO SHARE?

Are there any recent successes you'd like to share with the wider team, challenges you want to discuss, projects you want to communicate, opportunities you think might be of interest? Let us know on f.e.halstead@hull.ac.uk and we will include it in this newsletter!
